

Banking and Financial Services

Our Banking and Financial Services practice group offers a wide range of legal services to banks, commercial and consumer leasing companies, title insurance companies and non-institutional lenders. We represent financial institutions in lender liability claims, negotiable instrument litigation, regulatory audits and investigations, and we assist our clients with transactional matters that include loan sales, documentation of commercial loans, sales of bank-owned real estate and branch leasing. We also routinely counsel our clients on regulatory issues and help create effective, long-term compliance programs.

We also have a fully developed default services practice that covers the entire spectrum of needs any bank or financial institution may have including:

- Residential Foreclosures
- Commercial Foreclosures
- Collections
- Replevin Actions
- Prejudgment Remedies
- Short Sales
- Deeds in Lieu of Foreclosure
- Workout and Restructuring Agreements

Our experience and legal acumen speaks for itself, but what sets us apart is our commitment to maintaining our client relationships. We undertake engagements with our clients to provide tailored advocacy with an attention to detail that permits us to precisely advise, target and steer the course of the transaction or dispute through resolution. This approach ensures that we represent our banking and financial institution clients in an efficient manner while assuring that the clients are keenly aware of the strategy employed on their behalf to obtain the desired outcome. We focus on practical solutions, and we provide straightforward advice designed to get results.

The specificity and focus of our representation of the financial services industry has given us a keen understanding of the legal landscape faced by our clients as well as how best to navigate complex transactions and disputes in a way that not only maximizes the likelihood of success but does so in a cost-effective manner. Our firm's model is to be proactive and responsive while providing the highest quality of legal representation.