

Business Transactions

Our attorneys represent commercial entities, developers, professionals, associations and interested individuals in a range of business transactions, from handling the nuances of a business divorce, to advising clients on contract and leasing matters, compliance, best practices, and guiding them through the challenging and detail-oriented processes associated with a significant sales, merger, or acquisition.

We have represented numerous clients in major commercial matters, including the development of industrial parks, office parks, and shopping centers, and corporate mergers and acquisitions including the sale of a Fortune 500 company. The substantial breadth and depth of our experience has given us the expertise necessary to successfully navigate a business transaction, no matter the scale or complication.

We are committed to providing comprehensive, end-to-end legal representation to our clients. Unlike many of our competitors, we are a full-service boutique firm, and we offer a range of litigation, transactional and advisory services. We are uniquely well-equipped to assist with complex business transactions and evaluate risk. Our comprehensive approach to handling business transactions is fundamental to ensuring that we provide our clients with the most cost-effective, practical solutions in the long-term.

At Gfeller Laurie LLP, we invest significant time and resources to ensure that our attorneys are kept abreast of trends in the legal market. This “thorough” approach to legal representation is embedded in all our services as a firm. When we are handling a case, we devote ourselves to understanding the circumstances surrounding the legal matter at issue and use the fruits of this detail-driven approach to develop a custom-tailored, cost-effective strategy that will be most suitable for the client.
